Note:

1. Sex is the term utilised by ONS as part of the 2021 Census, referring only to male or female.
2. Cisgender refers to a person whose gender identity aligns with their birth sex. Often used by cisgender allies who by using this term, recognise that transgender and non-binary people exist and matter.
3. Gender identity is the term used to describe how a person feels internally about their own gender and is a spectrum. For example, a person's gender identity might mean they identify as a man, a woman, non-binary, or something completely different.
